

Notes and New March 2019

Death in Provence by Serena Kent
Nobody's Sweetheart Now by Maggie Robinson

Notes and News February 2019

Cardiac Arrest by Lisa Q. Mathews
Home Sweet Homicide by Craig Rice

Notes and News May 2018:

A Cruise to Die For by Charlotte Elkins
My Brother Michael by Mary Stewart
Death by Dumpling by Vivien Chien

Notes and News December 2017:

Judith Cransworth's Blood on the Bulb Fields – features a tour group escort on a trip to Amsterdam who has to herd tourists and juggle a mystery

Gin and Panic by Mia Chance – a lighthearted mystery with a zany tone set in 1920s New England

The Trophy Wives of Alpenrose – fun cozy set in 1960s in the Swiss alps

Mary Stewart – classic romantic suspense books, including
The Moonspinners and This Rough Magic

Holiday reads:

- Mistletoe, Merriment, and Murder by Sara Rosett
- The Twelve Clues of Christmas by Rhys Bowen
  - Mistletoe Murder by Leslie Meier

Notes and News July 2017:

Murder on the Riviera Express by T. P. Fielden - Another historical, but this one is set in a 1950s British seaside town. A local newspaper reporter thinks that the death of a celebrity isn't quite what it seems. I found this one as a used paperback. It doesn't appear that it's available in e-book in the US yet, but check in the UK because that's where it was published and it might be available in e-book there

Death at Bishop's Keep by Robin Paige – I discovered this historical mystery series that is set during Victorian times recently. The first book features a woman who goes to England in encounters a mystery, situation I always enjoy reading about. 🤔

A Perfect Manhattan Murder by Tracy Kiely – The third installment in the Nic and Nigel series is a modern take on the Thin Man mysteries with plenty of snappy dialogue.

Magpie Murders by Anthony Horowitz – With its novel within a novel structure, this was an interesting read, and I enjoyed the homage to Agatha Christie's village mysteries, but some readers will not like the crude language that is part of the mystery itself. (I know many of my readers don't like that sort of thing at all, so I'm just giving you a heads-up about it.) Otherwise, an interesting mystery.

Notes and News January 2017:

A Case of Murder in Mayfair by Clara Benson - 1930s London, Hollywood movie stars, and a man-about-town turned reporter

Jane and the Twelve Days of Christmas by Stephanie Barron - Jane Austen as an amateur sleuth

The Baker Street Jurors by Michael Robertson- blends Sherlock Holmes and a courtroom drama

The Skeleton in the Closet by M.C. Beaton - a man searches to find out where his miserly parents' money came from...

Notes and News October 2016:

The Secrets of Wishtide by Kate Saunders - historical mystery, Victorian, Sherlockian feel

Sweetheart Deal by Linda Joffe Hull - similar to my Ellie books, a mom sleuth, tips

A Novel Revenge by Ashley Weaver - historical mystery, English county house, 1930s

A Terrible Beauty by Tasha Alexander - historical mystery, Victorian, Greece